BAMST Conference 2009

A platform for Meat Science in Belgium

Dear colleagues,

The BAMST 2009 Conference will be held on Thursday 8 October 2009 at ILVO, Melle. The aim of this yearly meeting is to bring together meat scientists and R&D staff involved in meat research. The Conference language is Dutch.

The theme of the Conference this year is 'Imago van vlees en vleesproducten'

In addition to four keynote speakers, a poster session is planned to allow meat scientists to present their latest research findings. The topic of the poster presentation should deal with meat or meat products, but is not necessarily related to the theme of the Conference.

For those authors who wish, a two page summary of the poster presentations will be included in the Proceedings of this meeting. The summary may be in English or Dutch. The use of the English language is encouraged to allow broad dissemination.

We cordially invite you to submit contributions about your scientific research. The deadline for submission of abstracts is 31 August 2009. See next page for information on the procedure.

If you notice that some of your colleagues have not received this invitation, please forward this message to them. A final announcement of the Conference will be send later.
